From Saturday May 25. to Tuesday May 28. 1745.

Jamaica, April 1.

ON the 11th paſt arrived here Vice-Admiral Davers, with the Squadron under his Command, as alſo the Victuallers and Store Ships.

Cumberland off Dona Maria Bay, April 9.

Capt. Legge, of his Majeſty's Ship the Strafford, having been on a Cruize, has taken two French Merchant-ſhips near Mounti Chriſti, laden with Proviſions, Wine, and ſome Bale Goods, who had been 40 Days from Breſt, and were convoy'd by a Twenty Gun Ship 100 Leagues to the Weſtward. He has alſo retaken an Engliſh Sloop that the French had taken two Days before, bound from New York to Port Royal, laden with Bread and Flower, and is proceeding with them to Jamaica.

Genoa, May 16, N. S. On the 5th Inſtant, the Duke of Modena, M. de Gages, and the Duke de Vieuville, with three Lieutenant Generals, and about 8000 Cavalry and Infantry, arrived at Sarzana; the General Officers took up their Quarters in the Town, and the Troops encampt without the Walls. On the 6th arrived there Lieutenant General Count Sinne, with about 6000 Men, Infantry and Cavalry, who alſo encampt, the General Officers taking up their Quarters within the Town. On the 7th arrived there Lieut. Gen. Macdonnel, with about 2000 Men; and on the 8th arrived the Remainder of the Army, which encampt as the former Corps had done; and Orders were immediately given by the General for making a Bridge over the River Magra, which had ſpread itſelf very conſiderably by the heavy Rains that fell the preceeding Days, ſo that the Rapidity of the Stream very much retarded the going on with that Work. On the 9th, having perfected the Bridge, although but very weak, they were conſtrained to paſs it, a few at a Time, and to keep mending of it as paſſed over. The Army begun their March at about One a-Clock, the Duke of Modena, and M. de Gages, mounted Horſe, after having refreſhed themſelves with the Commiſſary, and the whole Army continued their March towards Porto Speccia; about Five a-Clock in the Evening a Body of Auſtrian Huſſars, ſuſtained by 3000 Foot, began to appear in the Road which leads to Parma, where there was a Detachment of 13 Companies of Grenadiers, one of Royal Carabineers, and one of Spaniſh Huſſars, to cover the March of the Army and Baggage, but being briskly attacked by the Auſtrians, they retreated ſlowly to the Bridge, where they kept their Ground till the whole Army had paſſed over, continually skirmiſhing with the Auſtrians; when forming themſelves in Battle on the Banks of the River, they made a continual Fire of Muskets and ſmall Field Cannon, which was returned with equal Vigour by the Auſtrians, until the Spaniards had broken their Bridge. The Auſtrians finding it impoſſible to follow them, or to ford the River, they retired towards L'Aula, having taken two Officers Priſoners. The Number of Men killed in this Skirmiſh is not yet known, as they were thrown into the River; but there is about 150 wounded, including one Captain and one Lieutenant, moſt of which were ſent to this City. On the 10th and 11th the Army arrived at Seſtri di Levante, where they encampt, having done infinite Damage, as well there as at Sarzana, by cutting down the Corn, Olive Trees, &c. The 12th the Army march'd to Chiaveri, and the 13th would be at Rapallo, making ſlow Marches to eaſe the Troops, and to recover them of the Fatigues they had undergone in paſſing the Mountains: This Night it is expected they will arrive at Nervi, where it is ſaid they will repoſe two or three Days, and are expected afterwards in the Suburbs of this City, where proper Diſpoſitions has been made for their Reception: They are to paſs without the Walls of the City, and to encamp in the Polcevera, a fine Valley to the Weſtward: The Head Quarters will be fixed at Ponte Decirno, about eight ſmall Miles from this City. What Route they will take afterwards is not yet known, and various are the Conjectures; ſome pretend they will march directly to Tortona or Alexandria, others that they will continue their Route to join the Infante Don Phillip's Army at Final; and, when joined, march up together into the Monferrat: But as neither of theſe Armies have with them any heavy Artillery, 'tis thought they will wait the Arrival of the Train that has been prepared at Naples, or of that which is on the Way from Barcelona. Twenty-five Veſſels laden with Cannon and Ammunition from thence, it is ſaid, are arrived at Monaco, and a Number of others at Villa Franca and Antibes. Three French Men of War, of 70, 60, and 50 Guns, are at Villa Franca, which are to convoy hither theſe Veſſels; but as the Squadron of his Britannick Majeſty's Ships, under the Command of Capt. Ambroſe, keep cruizing on the Coaſt to the Weſtward, they will hardly attempt coming forward. The Army under Don Philip continues aſſembling at Albenga: The 9th Inſtant

(Price Two-Pence.)

Inſtant two Battalions, which were at San Remo, had Orders to march from thence, and the 10th, a Company of Grenadiers and two Battalions of Infantry paſſed by that Place, in their Way to Albenga from Nice, where Part of the Cavalry was arrived. Yeſterday Morning 50 Mules with 250,000 Dollars arrived here, and the Money was depoſited in the Spaniſh Poſt-Office. This Republick continues their military Preparations, and have completed two new Batteries towards the Sea, and are now mounting ſome Cannon on the Works to the Eaſtward of the Town. They have ſent about 800 Men more to Porto Speccia, and about 600 more to Savona and Final. The Hungarian Miniſter's Memorial, that was preſented, demanding a Paſſage and Proviſions for the Troops, if they ſhould be obliged to enter this State, has been anſwer'd, that they ſhall be ready to demonſtrate the Eſteem they have for her Majeſty, by admitting them to paſs freely; but excuſe themſelves from being obliged to furniſh any Proviſions, which they hope Prince Lobcowitz will take upon himſelf. Letters from Parma of the 11th Inſtant adviſe, that he was ſtill encamped there with the Army, and that Recruits arrive daily.
